Letter from Superintendent & Board President

Thank you for taking the time to learn more about Ferndale Schools.

A public school strategic plan is an opportunity for the Board of Education, administration, staff, parents, students, and community to come together to express their aspirations for the future of our district. Collectively creating a roadmap that will guide our continuous improvement for the next five years.

In education, continuous improvement is more than just a goal or a particular program; it is a driving principle around which we build an entire embedded system. The system consists of tools that are regularly gathering performance data, studying it, planning improvements, and overseeing their implementation. The process can only begin with a recognition that what we are doing today won’t accomplish the goals of tomorrow. This is not an indictment of our current performance, because improvement is always necessary. In fact, this process must by cyclical: just as change never stops around us, we must never stop changing to adapt to the needs of our students.

As you will see in this plan, systemic continuous improvement is centered on multiple sources of evidence and data points. It is driven by what is taking place across the many functions of schools and systems that impact student outcomes and achievement. These functions include teaching and learning, but also resource distribution, school climate and culture, and governance.

The world is ever-changing, yet the school setting in many places looks the same as it did 30 years ago. Right now, much of our workforce is employed in positions that didn’t exist 20 years ago. The challenge set before our community in creating this plan was great: how can we prepare our students for a future that don’t exist yet? We teach them to be lifelong learners, giving them the ability to think critically, solve problems, and meet new demands as they occur. The system and practices as set forth in this plan will allow for the continuous improvement of our students academically, socially, and emotionally.

Regards,

Dr. Dania Bazzi

Executive Summary

On January 7, 2019, the Board of Education of Ferndale Public Schools voted to utilize US², a consulting firm focused on issues surrounding equity and inclusion, to develop an updated strategic plan for the school district. This extensive process engaged the community and all stakeholder groups to create universal ownership and support for district and school improvement. Highlights of the process included:

- A comprehensive community engagement component that allowed stakeholders to have a voice in the strategic planning process

- A diverse planning team that represented stakeholder groups to develop the plan

- An intensive planning process that assisted the planning and action teams in analyzing the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats of the school district

- A facilitated process to work with experts within the district and community on developing initiatives and action steps to implement the plan within individual environments to support the district as a whole
The desired outcome of the Ferndale Public Schools Strategic Plan was to align the work of the district while supporting their mission, vision, and belief statements. Ferndale Public Schools strives to be among the best suburban school districts in the state. Ferndale Public Schools will...

- provide equitable opportunities for all students and work to eliminate labeling students
- provide high-quality, well-rounded education programs
- engage students in contemporary science, technology and humanities
- offer culturally rich arts and music programs
- support competitive athletic programs
- instill pride in our students, staff and families
- challenge ourselves and our students to attain the highest educational and citizenship standards
Overview of Terms & Process

Within the Strategic Planning Committee, Ferndale Public Schools chose to use the Vision Statement crafted through Midwest Equity Center as the overarching purpose for the work. Under that vision, the committee identified three strategic goal areas (Communication, Academics, and Resources). Within the three goal areas, five objectives were crafted. These objectives were crafted to provide direction for the district to achieve the strategic goal -ultimately allowing Ferndale Public Schools to see their vision statement come to fruition. Individual schools will craft tactics for each objective within their school improvement processes and provide yearly updates as to the progress of their tactics to support with the objectives.
